Be Aware: Predatory Publishing

The New York Times, among other publications, has reported that academic researchers are seeing an increase in predatory publishers. These "publishers" are little more than scams to cash in on the author-paid, Open Access model that is becoming more prevalent in the area of scholarly communication.

A helpful guide for evaluating the validity of publishers and journals is provided by Jeffrey Beall, a University of Colorado librarian. It may be accessed at http://scholarlyoa.com/2012/11/30/criteria-for-determining-predatory-open-access-publishers-2nd-edition/

If you have additional questions, please contact Bonnie Poston at bposton@wakehealth.edu or 716-0078.

Exam Master Beta Testing New Interface

You may have noticed a new look to ExamMaster.

We are a beta test site for their new interface that incorporates several new features including two exam interfaces. In addition to the USMLE Practice exams, Exam Master Online has Medical Subject Reviews (anatomy, biochemistry, cytology and histology, internal and clinical medicine, medical microbiology, pathology, physiology, psychiatry), Medical Certification (family medicine, internal medicine, general surgery, general pediatrics, special purpose examination), Physician Assistant (PANCE/PANRE, clinical modules for PAs, medical subject review for PAs), Dental Subject Review for the NBDE Part I exam, and Pharmacy Review (NAPLEX).

Exam Master Online is located on the Library web site under More Databases.

New Archives' Online Exhibit

The Dorothy Carpenter Medical Archives launched a new online exhibit recently. Exhibit of Spotlights displays various photographs from the Subject File Photographs collection.

The title of the exhibit comes from the Library's homepage where there is an area to "spotlight" neat materials. The spotlight is being changed about every six weeks. After it has been on the Library's homepage, it is uploaded onto the Exhibit of Spotlights.

Notary Public

Service in the Library

The Library offers Notary Public services during limited hours. Please call the Information Desk at 713-7100 or 716-4414 before you come to the Library to ensure that a notary will be available to assist you when you arrive.

Here are some important things to remember:

- Do not sign your document before you meet with the Notary Public.
- Please bring a photo id with you.

- Every person needing to sign must be present.
- We can only notarize documents in English. All foreign language documents must be translated into English before notarization.
- Documents are required to have a Notary Certificate on them – this is the wording about the notary signature, dates, and other information.

New Searching Feature

The Carpenter Library has a new search box on the Library homepage.

The new search box is convenient and comprehenshive.

- Everything tab - yields books, articles, videos, models and more in all three Wake Forest Libraries.
- Books tab - find Carpenter Library ebooks and books.
- Articles tab - yields links to the full text of all Wake Forest University journal holdings.
- Journals tab - find Carpenter Library ejournals and journals.
- Faculty Publications tab – searches all Medical Center authors from 1990 to the present.

The search results for the Everything, Books, and Articles tabs appear in a new window below:

The results window allows for refinements of searches including: full-text only, content type, publication date, location. Results can be saved, printed, and emailed in various citation formats.

If you need any assistance, contact Mark McKone at mmckone@wakehealth.edu or 716-3108.

Upcoming Changes to NIH Public Access Policy Reporting Requirements

In the spring of 2013, the NIH will delay processing of noncompeting continuation grant awards if publications arising from that award are not in compliance with the NIH Public Access policy. Beginning this spring, institutional administrators can use the Public Access Compliance Monitor to track the status of applicable publications.

The Office of Research has created a web page which has a link to all Noncompliant and In Process publications. http://intranet.wakehealth.edu/Departments/Office-of-Research/Public-Access-Information.htm

Researchers must use My NCBI's "My Bibliography" tool to manage their professional bibliographies and comply with the policy. The Carpenter Library provides support for
- Clarification of NIH Public Access compliance process (and upcoming changes)
- Publisher Policy information
- Copyright Guidance
- Creation of MyNCBI accounts with MyBibliography (and linking to eCommons)
- General Support (PMID vs PMCID, etc)

In addition, this spring the Library will offer classes which cover the basics of the policy and how to manage compliance by creating a MyBibliography linked to the eRA Commons. See announcement below. For questions or additional information contact Molly Barnett at mbarnett@wakehealth.edu or 716-2303.

New Library Class Offered About Publishing Strategies

A new 90 minute class is being offered in the Carpenter Library on Publishing Strategies. It will discuss the basics of copyright for authors and instructors and explain the role of Open Access journals.

The class will also focus on how one measures the impact of authors and journals, and demonstrate databases for cited reference searching and journal impact factors.

Goodbye Bookstore

As reported last fall, the medical school bookstore in the Carpenter Library merged into University Stores of Wake Forest University. The physical bookstore is no longer in the library.

Textbooks, medical books, medical equipment and other items previously sold through our bookstore can now be purchased online at www.wfustores.com/t-medschool.aspx. Books are delivered to the library for pick on this campus.

Questions or requests for additional information may be directed to Hannah Brown at University Bookstores at brownhm@wfu.edu or call 336-758-5092.

Model Collection now in former Library Bookstore location – See story below.

Hello New Study Room, Lounge and Model Collection

The former bookstore space is now home to the library model collection and is a "walk-in, help yourself" lounge with sofas and chairs.

Within this space is the newest group study room that can be reserved for 2 hour blocks.

Come by and take a look.
