Docphin Current Awareness Portal

Table of Contents

Most journal apps do not work with an institutional subscription, they are for individual subscribers only. Now you can use Docphin <www.docphin.com> to connect to the most popular medical journals and browse the most recent TOCs on your phone or tablet.

Registration requires selecting a specialty, which automatically selects the 5-10 of the most popular journals in that field. Then you can search for specific sources and add/delete journal titles. Sources include general news sites like the NYTimes Health section and Time Magazine Health.

Select Wake Forest University when you register and it "knows" our proxy prefix and will prompt for credentials when you're off-campus. Scroll through titles and it pre-loads the abstract. When you click "View This Article", it will take you straight to the article or to the PubMed record with all our full text icons.

There are apps for iPhone/iPad and Android devices. Integration with Evernote for saving articles is built-in. You can also use from any browser, which may be easier for setting up your preferences on a bigger screen.

- Landmark Articles - the practice-changing ones, just a couple per year in selected specialties
- Medstream - health news from popular media like CNN, Forbes, NPR, NYT, etc.
- Saved Articles - will bookmark articles to read later
- Alerts - set up by title keyword or author

Docphin can be useful to keep up on the literature even if you don't use tablet or smartphone.

Historical Objects on display at Reynolda Campus

Wake Forest Historical Medical Archives and Wake Forest Historical Archives are partnering up for "Treasures from Hawthorne Hill."

The treasures are from Dorothy Carpenter Medical Archives, part of Wake Forest School of Medicine, and they will be on display at Z. Smith Reynolds Library's Special Collections Reading Room on the Reynolda campus. The display runs from October 2013 to January 2014.

HAWTHORNE HILL TREASURES:

Objects from the Wake Forest Medical Historical Archives

Room 625, Z. Smith Reynolds Library

The rarely-seen artifacts include a softball from the 1944 medical student winning team, plastic baby dolls used for surgery practice, antique obstetrical/gynecological instruments, and nursing items.

The exhibit is open during Library hours. There will also be two special times to see it:

1. Special Collections and Archives Reception during Wake Forest homecoming weekend, Thursday, October 18, 4:30pm.
2. Open House for the exhibit, Tuesday, November 19, 3:30-5pm

Both are in the Z. Smith Reynolds Library on the sixth floor west in the Reynolds Wing.

For details about objects in the exhibit, contact Dianne or visit the Archives.

Holidays Closing

The Library will be closed for:

- Thanksgiving, Thursday, November 28
- Christmas, Wednesday, December 25
- New Year's Day, Wednesday, January 1

Please note that we will have abbreviated hours from December 22 to New Year's Eve (December 31). Hours will be posted at the Library entrance on the PowerPoint slide show.

Notary Public

Service in the Library

The Library offers Notary Public services during limited hours. Please call the Information Desk at 713-7100 or 716-4414 before you come to the Library to ensure that a notary will be available to assist you when you arrive.

Here are some important things to remember:

- Do not sign your document before you meet with the Notary Public.
- Please bring a photo id with you.

- Every person needing to sign must be present.
- We can only notarize documents in English. All foreign language documents must be translated into English before notarization.
- Documents are required to have a Notary Certificate on them – this is the wording about the notary signature, dates, and other information.
