We were one of the first academic medical centers in the country to establish a formal fracture liaison service program to help foster bone health in older adults and reduce the risk of fragility fractures. Our team has earned the Own the Bone Star Performer designation from the American Orthopaedic Association for multiple years in a row.

Our sports medicine experts serve as the team doctors for many regional pro, collegiate and youth sport organizations, including nearly 100 combined athletic trainers providing medical coverage to local high schools and sporting events.
