

Marjorie Rorie has spent her career in service to the community. She graduated from the University of Chapel Hill with a major in Psychology and obtained a Masters of Public Affairs with a concentration in Human Resource Management from North Carolina State University in 1988. She is married to Reverend Terry Rorie and has cared for foster children over the last 6 years.

Rorie has a work history in nonprofit community service as a Director, Community & Partnership Development for Communities in Schools of High Point where she wrote grants to support programs for student programs and the organization and as Director, Small Business Center, and Randolph Community College, providing technical assistance, counseling and workshops for small business owners in Randolph County. She has been a Personal Financial Analyst, having obtained licenses in securities, life insurance and Property and Casualty Insurance.

In her current job as the Director of Community Services for Truliant Federal Credit Union she combines her experiences to design and implement strategies, educational forums, seminars and products and services to reach potential new credit union members in various markets.

In her spare time, she consults with businesses and nonprofit agencies to develop business plans and grant proposals. Her accomplishments include: Preparing the documentation to establish a HUD Housing Counseling Site at the Goler Family Enrichment Center and assisting the Goler Family Enrichment Center in being awarded a $2.1 million Home Edge Loan. She writes grant proposals to fund Communities in Schools of High Point and various other nonprofits. Over the last 4 years, Communities In Schools has received over $250,000 in foundation, corporate and federal funding.

Rorie's community involvement extends to several boards and committees in Raleigh, Winston-Salem and in High Point where she lives.
