SPECIAL GUEST

George Drach, M.D., Professor of Urology and Director of Outpatient Urology Education at the University of Pennsylvania, will be honored at the conference as the first recipient of the Distinguished Alumni Award. The award is the highest honor the Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center Department of Urology can bestow upon any graduate or trainee and is presented to individuals whose contributions to the profession are notable and merit special recognition. George completed three years of urology residency and one year of fellowship at Wake Forest.

Please join us in recognizing George’s outstanding career.
Course Description
This annual course is designed to improve and update the knowledge base of urologists. The emphasis is on new technology and evidence-based outcomes. Modules based on subspecialties of urology such as uro-oncology, pediatric urology, men’s health and voiding disorders are covered by nationally recognized faculty.

Goals
The attendee will be familiar with the best practice guidelines for managing a wide variety of urologic conditions affecting children and adults and will be updated on the latest surgical treatments, including laparoscopic and robotic techniques.

Objectives
At the conclusion of this CME activity, the learner should be better able to:
1. Manage the patient with various urologic conditions using the specialty guidelines.
2. Treat small renal masses per the recommended guidelines.
3. Individualize the treatment choices for patients with prostate cancer.

Accreditation
The Wake Forest University School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Dear Colleague,

On behalf of our entire faculty, I’m delighted to announce our 4th Annual Urology Today Conference, an opportunity to share perspectives and best practices with urologists from across the country.

The conference faculty and topics were carefully selected to provide you valuable insight and information to enhance your surgical and clinical skills. More than 30 talks will focus on all aspects of best practices, from diagnosis and surgical techniques to use of guidelines and case management. For information on CME credits available, see the “Course Details” section of this brochure.

Our location this year is The Homestead, a beautiful setting that offers a wide variety of activities for you and your family to enjoy. Please note that to receive conference room rates, you should make your reservations by August 20, 2010.

I hope you’ll plan to join us this fall—we look forward to seeing you.

All the best,

Anthony Atala, M.D.
Chair, Department of Urology
